
To date, we have built more than 70 libraries with a total duration of over 4 hours. One of our most famous libraries, Kingdom of Courage, is part of the Enhanced Library Series. With Kingdom of Courage we have created a grand orchestral collection based on the most legendary folk songs. The compact orchestral arrangement of the original folk songs (performed by various musicians) is combined with the best sample instruments, raw orchestral recordings and a powerful yet easy-to-use engine to guarantee an unparalleled result. Kingdom of Courage includes the following instruments: Bass – 2× Electric Bass (Xeno) Brass – Trumpet, Trombone Horn – Saxophone, Soprano Saxophone Percussion – Drum Kit Strings – Violin, Viola, Cello Keyboard – Electric Piano, Strings The starting point for the creation of the library was a high-end virtual orchestra of at least 28 different instruments. This virtual orchestra was recorded at the Vienna Symphonic Hall. It was recorded with a custom-built microphone array that allowed a detailed analysis of the venue acoustics. In the design phase we had a look at the hall's acoustics during the recording sessions of classical music, light, film and tv. We created a database with all those reference recordings and combined them with the corresponding instrument performance and our acoustical analysis. From this database, we defined which instrument is recorded where, and we used that as reference to establish the acoustics for Kingdom of Courage. In the past couple of months, we have started working on an orchestral sample library for techno music. A city of Vienna is one of the key cities for this genre. The sound of Vienna is unique and is the result of a mix of many factors. It's one of the most liveable cities in the world, with one of the oldest urban core and many modern developments. Vienna hosts the biggest live music festival in the world with about 250.000 visitors each year. We've been inspired by this vibrant city and we're building this techno sample library to give you a unique insight into Vienna's unique sound.
